

Martha L. Ball, FAIA, LEED AP BD+C
HED (Harley Ellis Devereaux) Architecture

Martha Ball, FAIA, is a nationally recognized architect with over 35 years of experience leading design across a wide range of project types, including higher education student housing, state-of-the-art science and research spaces, and academic facilities. Her integrated approach emphasizes collaboration, performance, and human-centered design, resulting in spaces that are as purposeful as they are inspiring. As a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects, Martha is widely respected for her ability to translate complex programmatic needs into clear, functional, and beautifully resolved architecture. Her leadership extends to mentoring interdisciplinary teams, guiding design-build delivery, and engaging in thought leadership through national conferences. Her work reflects a passion for meaningful, forward-thinking design that supports learning, discovery, and community.
